Stranger Who Related the "Fairy" Stories to Local Lawyers Had an Accomplice.

PERFORMED AS HOUSE MAN

Attempted to Get $7 From Prominent Farmer and to Hair-Raising
Story to Loan Agent.

It has since developed that the stranger who plied his trade among local attorneys and business men yesterday had an accomplice. The two men arrived here Tuesday morning and registered at the Windsor hotel as J. A. Schnessler and William Downey of Louisville, Ky. They remained here over Tuesday night and all day yesterday and checked out at the hotel last night. They said they were going to Spencer from here.

It is not known whether or not they were able to interest anyone here in their various schemes which they propounded. One man did the street work while the other was the house man. It has since been learned that the outside man visited almost every merchant and professional man yesterday in an attempt to interest them and he did not overlook a few farmers, either.

He found one well known land owner on the street who consented to listen to him and took him to the Windsor hotel, where he unfolded his plans. He did not have any hair-raising story for him, but simply asked for a straight loan of seven dollars, amount of interest not mentioned. The stranger offered his watch—he carried the same dollar watch all the time—for security. The farmer took favorably to his plan, but when he decided that he would not be in town today to get his money back, he turned him down.

The same man who was described as wearing "loud" clothes, and who seemed so fond of attorneys was even fonder of loan agents. He visited practically every one of them in the city. The first one he went to, he found painting and was soon turned away without being given an opportunity to tell his story. He visited another loan man and was allowed to build his air castle right there on the floor.

He said that he had a bag of diamonds, the value of which was so great that he was even afraid to whisper it. His dream ran that these diamonds had been smuggled into this country and therefore could be sold at a great reduction. But here's where the fun came in. He said that this bag containing so many "glisteners" was in the express office at Shelbyville and it would take some money to get it out. And then he made the attempted "touch." But it might with the "glassy stare" and he was turned away "cold."

He visited many other men and for each one he had a different story, all of them bearing some resemblance to each other in and nearly every instance, he had something in an express office which he did not have money enough to get out. He told several people that his wife was accompanying him, but no woman was with either of the men.

KNIGHTS ATTEND.

The fifty-sixth annual convocation of the grand commandery Knights Templar of Indiana closed this afternoon. Several local members of Rushville Commandery No. 49 were present for the sessions yesterday and today.

IS RE-ELECTED CHAPLAIN

Father Cronin is Also Chosen Delegate to National Convention.

At the last day's session of the State convention of the Knights of Columbus held at Gary yesterday, Father Walter J. Cronin of this city was re-elected State chaplain and was also chosen a delegate to the national convention of the order to be held in Quebec, Canada, during the summer. Father Cronin is planning to attend the national affair. John Demmer, who was a delegate to the State convention from the local council, returned home this morning.

He has given similar entertainments all over the middle west and has met with unexpected success. He has been a great favorite wherever he has appeared in a recital and is expected to make a profound impression on Rushville music lovers. A single admission price of twenty-five cents will be charged and tickets may be purchased of any member of the Ladies Musicale.

SPECIAL CAR TO LEAVE AT 1 O'CLOCK

Time Has Been Changed so That State Crowd Can See Sights of Crawfordville.

FIFTY ARE EXPECTED TO GO

The time for the special car, which will carry the local crowd to Crawfordville for the high school State oratorical contest tomorrow afternoon has been changed to leave, from three to one o'clock in the afternoon. The change was made after many local people had made the request, so that they could go sight-seeing in Crawfordville, which offers many attractions. Many wished to see the home of the late Gen. Lew Wallace, the Wabash college campus and buildings and many other attractive features to be found in the "Athens of Indiana." Two ball games are also promised in the afternoon which led many to make the request to go earlier. The same car will carry the crowd all the way to Crawfordville and will arrive here Saturday morning at one o'clock on the return trip. It is expected, since the change in time, that fifty can be persuaded to go and in that case the round trip fare will be only $2.45.

POPULAR YOUNG WOMAN IS DEAD

Miss Lucile Wilson Expires at Her Home in Portland, Ore., of Typhoid Fever.

HAD BEEN SICK NINE WEEKS

Many Friends Here Grief Stricken
When They Received the News of Her Demise.

Mrs. Rich Wilson received a telegram early this morning stating that Miss Lucile Wilson, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Wilson, had died at her home in Portland, Oregon, last midnight of typhoid fever. Miss Wilson had been lingering between life and death for the past few days and not much hope had been entertained for her recovery since the latter part of last week. She was taken sick nine weeks ago and had been in a critical condition since that time although for a time the first part of last week, it was thought that she was improving and would in all probability recover. Word was received here to that effect.

Later in the week Miss Wilson suffered a relapse and gradually grew worse until last night when the end came. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson and family left here January 30 for Portland, Oregon, where they have been making their permanent home. They had not been there many weeks before their daughter was taken sick. It is thought that she contracted the disease while a student in the Randolph-Macon seminary in Lynchburg, Va., where she was a student until Christmas. Several students were afflicted with the disease before she left school. She did not return to school the first of the year on account of her parents moving West.

The news of the death of Miss Wilson was a great shock to the many friends and relatives of the Wilson family here. It was known that she had been seriously ill, but it was not thought that she would die. The many girl friends of Miss Wilson were grief stricken when they received the news of her demise this morning. She was a popular young woman and had many close friends here. She was graduated from the local high school last spring where she was a very popular and much-liked student. Last fall she entered the girl's school in Virginia. She was a member of the Psi Iota Xi sorority in the high school.

Miss Wilson was nineteen years old and the youngest of two children of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Wilson. She was an earnest member of the St. Paul M. E. church and took an active interest in church work. The body will be placed in a vault in Portland and will be brought here for burial later.

THWARTS COMET GAZERS

Clouds Cover Sky so That Halley's
Attraction May Not be Seen.

Many local people were planning to spend most of the night tonight stargazing, but their plans were thwarted by the clouds covering the sky this afternoon. It will, of course, be impossible to see the comet tonight unless the weather man is kind enough to clear the sky. The comet rises tomorrow morning at 2:32 a. m. Its speed now is 1,678 miles an hour.

WRITES LETTER TO DR. HURTY

Local Resident Sends an Anonymous
Communication to Secretary of State Board of Health.

COMPLAINS OF CONDITIONS

Finds Fault With Rushville Board of Health and Says They Are Inactive.

A resident of Rushville has written an anonymous letter to Dr. J. N. Hurty, secretary of the State Board of Health, complaining of a condition here and unjustly condemning the local board of health. The writer says that the board here would not act or he would have filed a complaint here. The local board of health, composed of V. H. Logan, M. D., J. G. Lewis, M. D., and D. D. VanOsdol, M. D., submits the following:

Office of City Board of Health
Rushville, Indiana, May, 1910.

We believe we are justified in publishing this anonymous letter, which some one sent to the secretary of the State Board of Health. We base our action on the fact that the people are ignorant as to the cause of many diseases and think it is a "mysterious dispensation of Providence" when they are attacked by some fatal disease. When the truth of the matter is, it is a certain dispensation of carelessness frugally applied. The letter follows which deals with tuberculosis or consumption. There are other and more hideous diseases rampant in Rushville, of which the public should be very careful. All persons afflicted with tuberculosis or other offensive disease should consult the Board of Health or their family physician and learn how to protect other members of the family and other people.

Following this letter in question we append the one from the Secretary of the State Board of Health, J. N. Hurty, which will explain the steps we may be compelled to take to enforce the law.

Rushville, Indiana, April 26, 1910.
Dr. J. N. Hurty,

Dear Sir:—I have been so interested for years in the fight you are making against tuberculosis and when I read the account in last Saturday's News of the new hospital near Rockville, I felt that you were the one person that the people of the State should thank more than anyone else for bringing this about. If individuals and families would only take proper precaution how much could be done in that way. I have wanted for a long time to call your attention to one of these cases of criminal carelessness here in Rushville, but like everyone else in the neighborhood, I am afraid of the people.

This is the case—the father has consumption, the lingering form, and the way he coughs and expectorates is something awful. He is not able to work or attend to business, but walks around the house and sits out all the time from early in the morning until late in the day, coughing and spitting and "hawking." You could not believe unless you could hear. There are two houses on one lot, and the family live in — of these houses, so it makes them close to the other people, and Mr. — sits on the back steps and expectorates on the ground, and when he is not there he is on the front porch spitting on the grass, now is not this dangerous for the neighbors? I have heard the family are disinfecting in the house, but when he is out all day—when the weather is at all good—coughing and spitting constantly on the ground,

Alva Ellis Wins in Alleged Malpractice
Suit in Henry County.

Alva Ellis, living near Straughn's Station, Rush county, was awarded $100 damages from George N. Snyder of this city yesterday by a jury of the Henry county circuit court, says the Richmond Palladium. Ellis had asked damages in the sum of $10,000 from Snyder, for alleged malpractice. He claimed that treatment which Snyder had given had caused a rupture. The complaint was originally filed in Wayne county, but the case was venued to Henry county on motion of the plaintiff.

JOIN FIGHT TO GET FIRE PROTECTION

State Officers Pledge Support to Traveling Men in Effort to Get Fire Escapes.

BLAKELY SUGGESTS A PLAN

W. E. Blakely, chief of the State department of inspection, is interested in the attempt of the traveling men of Indiana to secure better protection from fire at the hotels of the State, observes the Indianapolis Star. "Under the old law," said Mr. Blakely, "the control of fire escapes was in the hands of the State Department and in the new law the change was inadvertently made. The only way to make the fire escape uniform and raise them to the standard is to take the affair from the hands of the local fire chiefs over the State. In many cases the fire chiefs are not paid for that sort of work and any attempt to create a better condition is met with strenuous opposition. I shall assist the traveling men in any way that I can to bring about the change, but I would suggest that the local chiefs in each city should be made a subordinate of the State department of inspection."

ARRESTED FOR HEAVY HAULING

Three Teamsters Found Not Buiity in Squire Tom Helman's Court at Neff's Corner School House.

OVER 150 PEOPLE ATTEND

A trial of more than usual interest was held in the school house at Neff's Corner Tuesday night, when three teamsters were up in Squire Tom Helman's court, charged with heavy hauling. The squire found that the men were not guilty and set them free. More than one hundred and fifty people were in attendance at the hearing.

The men, two by the name of Butler and one named Gilbert, were arrested one day recently on an affidavit sworn out by John Ryon, road supervisor of that district. The three teamsters were hauling for Wilk & Redman, who are building a pike in Richland township. The road supervisor attempted to stop the men in their work on the ground that they were not residents of Rush county. They were allowed to go on when their employers interfered. Several people from here went to the trial and John Joyce assisted in the prosecution.

FESTIVAL OPENS WITH BIG CROWD

Many Local People Plan to Attend
Last Performance in Connersville This Evening.

IS PRONOUNCED A SUCCESS

Crowd Gathers From Many Points to Hear Noted Soloist of World-Wide Fame.

Many local people went to Connersville this afternoon and many others will go this evening to be present for the May Festival which closes with the program tonight. The festival is pronounced by all of the Rushville people who attended last night as a huge success. The program this afternoon and tonight was expected to draw the largest crowds.

One of the best musical treats ever offered the people of southeastern Indiana was embraced in the program rendered at the opening at the Auditorium last evening. The theater was crowded last night, many of those attending coming from a distance of fifty miles. So much interest is shown in the affair that every seat for the entertainment today had been sold last night.

The program last night consisted of solos by Mrs. Dorothea North, soprano; Nellis Hougaard Nielson, tenor and W. Otto Miessner, baritone; selections by the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra, and songs by a chorus of 400 school children, conducted by L. M. Tilson. Edgar Stillman Kelley, widely known as a composer, conducted a number of his own compositions.

The festival is declared a success in every particular, and this is attributed to the efforts of Connersville business men and music lovers who took an active part in promoting the entertainments.

TWO MORE FIELD EXAMINERS ARRIVE

Messrs. Twinun and Kahn Will go
Over Auditor's and Treasurer's Books For Past Year.

OTHER EXAMINERS STILL HERE

Four field examiners are now located in the court house where only two used to be. The Messrs. Twinun and Kahn arrived yesterday and will be here for several weeks going over the books of the county officials. Their work will extend only over the books of the present county auditor, Jesse Stone, and the county treasurer, Alvan Moor, for the past year. They expect to complete the examination in a few weeks. There was much speculation where to find room for new arrivals in the court house as all of the small rooms were already occupied. The other two examiners are still here going over the reports of township trustees.

THE WEATHER

Fair tonight with frost. Friday fair.

BIG CONTRACTORS HERE.

Two big contractors were here today figuring on the contract to pave Main and Second streets. They will in all probability place a bid with the commissioners.

FORBES AND HIS THRILLING TRIP

Aeronaut Broke All Records for Altitude.

BUT IT WAS NEARLY HIS LAST

After Reaching a Height of Over 20,000 Feet Celebrated American Aeronaut, and His Companion, an Amateur Astronomer, Descended More Rapidly Than Expected, Landing in a Heap, Nearly Dead, in a Kentucky Field.

Horse Cave, Ky., May 12.—Sadly battered, wrenched and bruised, but not seriously injured, A. Holland Forbes, the noted balloonist who won the Lahm cup at the St. Louis balloon races in 1909, and James Herrington Yates, amateur astronomer and wealthy young clubman, of New York, are lying in the log home of Joseph Bastin, a Green county farmer.

Mr. Forbes said he wanted to break the record held by Count Delavaux, who covered a distance of 1,393 miles in 1900, and that of Colonel Schrick, who in 1899 remained in the air seventy-two hours. His companion had another purpose. Mr. Yates is wealthy and has a liking for astronomy. The ascent from Quincy, Ill., was his initial experience in aeronautics. He took with him a telescope and photographic apparatus, and his chief desire was to learn something new about Halley's comet. While he does not claim to have learned any of the family secrets of the wanderer, Mr. Yates believes he secured some remarkable pictures taken at a height of about 18,000 feet.

"At the elevation of 15,000 feet at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning," said Mr. Forbes, "we went through our first snowstorm. An hour later we passed through the second flurry at a height of 16,400 feet. We made a record at 2 o'clock in the afternoon when we reached an altitude of 20,000 feet, higher by 2,000 feet than any authorized record ever made in America."

"In descending from the great elevation we had very little sand left, and as the gas contracted the balloon became extremely flabby. However, we went well until we were a few feet above the ground, when the appendix line broke loose from the ring supporting the basket. There was so little gas in the bag at the time that the rigging collapsed and with the basket attached, naturally dropped. This caused the rip cord, which is attached to the ring, to rip open the balloon at the height of 300 feet from the ground. I cannot describe the sensation of that 300 feet to the ground. It came so suddenly."

"I have a faint recollection of seeing men below me in a plowed field and subconsciously trying, it seemed, to tilt up the basket that Mr. Yates and I might spring free from the rigging when close to the ground. Because the basket did not tilt as it would have done under ordinary circumstances, was the cause of our injury. I believe the only thing that prevented the breaking of our backs when the basket fell bottom up squarely under the weight of the bag, was the rubber air mattress which we had placed in the bottom of the basket that we might be comfortable when we wanted to lie down."

"For a moment I was stunned by the impact. Then I recovered and saw two or three men coming to our aid. They extricated us and on improvised litters we were carried to this house. I tell you we were so badly shaken up we could not move. Dr. Pace of Monroe, a little settlement over the way a few miles, came in and after pounding us in a manner that would make our New York specialists blush, told us we were not seriously injured and that no bones were broken. He was a great 'doc,' but he also told us to keep still and not talk more than necessary."

Yates did not have much to say about the new experience. He declared he was yet in a condition of wonderment. "This is not going to be my last ride, however," he affirmed. "I certainly got a fine view of the comet about 2:45 o'clock."

THE HOUSE OF LORDS ADDRESSES GEORGE V.

Congratulations and Sympathy
Are Mingled.

London, May 12.—The Earl of Crewe, the government leader, arose, when the house of lords met last evening, to hand in the message from King George. The members of the house uncovered. When the lord chancellor prepared to read the message the members received it standing. The message stated in brief that the king knew that the house of lords shared his sorrow and had a full sense of the loss they had sustained.

The Earl of Crewe, after the reading of the message, arose and said the house had met under the shadow of a great calamity. He referred in the warmest terms to the late king's excellent qualities of head and heart. In doing so the government representative moved addresses to the new king and to the queen mother. Queen Alexandra, he said, might be assured of the warm sympathy, unalloyable love and reverence and affection of the whole country. In a eulogy of King George the Earl of Crewe offered him congratulations on his auspicious succession to the throne.

The Marquis of Lansdowne, the leader of the opposition in the second chamber, seconded the motion for the address. He said that among the many remarkable attributes of the late king there was none greater than his power of creating an atmosphere of international good will. In every land, he declared, it was recognized that a great international force had been removed from public affairs in Europe.

Continuing, Lord Lansdowne said they could not forget the sorrows of the royal house. Most of all, their hearts went out to that illustrious lady who since they had first welcomed her half a century ago, had ever stood in the eyes of the people as the embodiment of all that was graceful, tender and sympathetic in woman. The addresses were carried and the house adjourned until June 8.

King George has decided to take part in the funeral procession from Westminster Hall to Paddington station. The court will remove to Windsor on May 19, the day before the funeral. The Archbishop of Canterbury, assisted by Canon Wilberforce, will conduct a short service at Westminster Hall on the arrival of the body on May 17. The members of both houses of parliament will attend this service.

A NATION'S GRATITUDE

Pulaski and Kosciusko Held in Remembrance at the Capital.

Washington, May 12.—President Taft, Secretary of War Dickinson and several thousand Polish American citizens participated yesterday in the exercises of unveiling statues to the two Polish heroes who aided General Washington in the Revolutionary war—Brigadier General Count Casimir Pulaski, and Brigadier General Thaddeus Kosciusko. The president and Secretary Dickinson made speeches praising the character and gallantry of the two Polish generals. The Pulaski statue is on a triangle site at the intersection of Pennsylvania avenue, Thirteenth and E streets. The other statue has been placed in the northeastern corner of Lafayette place at the intersection of Madison place, H street and Vermont avenue.

Knights Templar Growing.

Indianapolis, May 12.—The fifty-sixth annual convocation of the grand commandery Knights Templar of Indiana is in session in the Masonic Temple. The closing session will be held tomorrow. The report of the grand recorder shows that the membership Dec. 31, 1909, was 1,529, a net increase during the year of 356.

ONEROUS HOURS IN STEEL MILLS

Commissioner Neill Points Out
"Shocking" Conditions.

THE ONLY PLAN OF RELIEF

In a Report Showing the General Custom of a Twelve-Hour Day, Seven Days a Week, in Steel Mills, Commissioner of Labor Charles Neill Urges the Necessity of the Mills Establishing the Three-Shift System.

Washington, May 12.—That "shocking" conditions generally prevail in the steel industry throughout the country and are not confined to the Bethlehem steel works at Bethlehem, Pa., as recently set forth in a report to the senate, is the substance of a statement made public by Charles Neill, commissioner of labor.

This statement was issued as a result of representations by Charles M. Schwab, president of the Bethlehem steel works. In a conference with Secretary Nagel of the department of commerce and labor Mr. Schwab said the report to the senate had put his company in an unfair light, as it gave the impression that conditions at the Bethlehem works were exceptional in the steel industry. Following Mr. Schwab's visit Secretary Nagel had a talk with Commissioner Neill.

In his statement Mr. Neill said the resolution of congress in response to which the recent report was transmitted, called specifically for a report as to the conditions in the Bethlehem steel works and that the report therefore did not deal with conditions in the steel industry in general. It is, however, perfectly true, he said, that in some departments the men work the entire seven days of the week, month in and month out in the Bethlehem steel works, and this has been the practice throughout the entire steel industry.

Commissioner Neill said that the annual reports of the bureau of labor on wages and hours show that in the blast furnaces in the steel industry eighty-four hours a week has been the working time in every section of the country, and this means practically a twelve-hour day every day in the week. Continuing, Commissioner Neill said: "These are conditions of labor which may well be termed shocking, but they are not confined to the Bethlehem steel works. Blast furnace work is necessarily a continuous process requiring operation twenty-four hours a day every day in the week, and for this reason three shifts of eight hours each offers the only plan of relief."

An Elephant Tramples Keeper.

San Francisco, May 12.—Rajah, one of the biggest captive elephants in this country, broke away from the circus grounds and ran wild through the streets of Berkeley. His keeper, Tony Lustano, vainly tried to control the elephant, which seized the trainer with his trunk, flung him to the ground and then trampled on him. The circus employees soon subdued the elephant. The trainer was found to have two ribs fractured and to be suffering from internal injuries. Doctors fear the man will not recover.

Relief After Many Years.

Terre Haute, Ind., May 12.—Fay Gore, a Southern Indiana railroad conductor, who has been lame for nineteen years, submitted to an operation here and he will recover the use of his maimed foot. Dr. Jenkins removed a wire nail one and a half inches long, which Gore ran into his foot while a barefoot boy.

Fierce Forest Fires.

St. Paul, Minn., May 12.—Owing to the unusual drought in Minnesota, the forests in the northern and eastern part of the state, in northern Wisconsin and Michigan have been burning for several days and great damage has been done. So far, however, no fatalities have been reported.

THE VOTERS AROUSED

A Situation in Marion County That Has Attracted Attention.

[Special Correspondence.]

Indianapolis, May 12.—W. D. Headrick, a candidate for prosecuting attorney in Marion county before the Republican primary, which is set for May 24, makes sensational charges against certain members of the Indianapolis city administration, to the effect that they are trying to nominate state representatives who will repudiate the instructions of the Republican state convention and oppose the election of Senator Beveridge in the legislative caucus of 1911. While it is known generally that there are some men in places of power in Indianapolis who would like to see some man other than Senator Beveridge wearing the toga, it is not believed that these men are either strong enough or bold enough or reckless enough to defy the Republican state convention and make trouble for Senator Beveridge in his home county. The Beveridge sentiment is very strong in Marion county. If the Beveridge men have been apparently slumbering, they are thoroughly awake at this time, and will leave nothing undone to make things sure and safe for Beveridge at the primary, at the polls next November, and in the caucus of 1911.

Mr. Headrick is a zealous and earnest Beveridge man, and it is recognized that he is serving a good purpose in arousing the Republican voters to the need for a livelier interest in the coming primary than has been shown up to this time. It is the purpose to nominate the strongest possible legislative ticket, and to put on that ticket positive men of good standing who will carry such weight as is needed to silence all stories of attempted repudiation of the state convention on the senatorial matter. Republicans argue that there is small danger of any Republican mixup on senator. The Democrats of Indiana have displayed such commanding ascendancy in evolving strife out of their senatorial situation, that Republicans are sufficiently warned against like misplays. There is little doubt but that some wise and long-headed Republican politicians in Marion county, not wishing to overlook any future possibility, are playing for a commanding position politically. For instance, suppose that John W. Kern should go ahead and prove his bribery charges against the Democratic legislative caucus that elected Senator Shively. Who would be called on to fill a vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Shively? Would it be a matter of foresight for Republicans to be planning that far ahead? A good many Republicans will feel that the party men are simply playing far ahead, and that while they may be laying around the old swimming hole and waiting to grab a toga, it is not necessarily true that they have designs on Beveridge's garment.

The Washington Star, taking up the charges of bribery made by John W. Kern against Senator Shively, the brewers, and the legislators of Democratic faith who betrayed Kern in 1909, declares that Mr. Kern faces an awkward situation. "If he spoke advisedly," says the Star, "he should make his words good, in the light of the accusations in the Illinois case. Bribery is bribery wherever committed, and no guilty man or party should be shielded. A Republican newspaper initiated the movement against Lorimer's senatorial title, and Mr. Kern, having disputed the integrity of Mr. Shively's title, should as boldly put partisanship behind him in his further proceedings in the case."

The Washington paper goes on to tell of the demand being made by Indiana newspapers for a completion of the expose and investigation when Mr. Kern himself started. "There is work for the prosecuting attorney at Indianapolis to do," asserts the Star. "The charges are not outlawed by age, nor is the crime, if crime was committed. The election of Mr. Lorimer and that of Mr. Shively were not far apart. The authorities are moving under the charges in the case of Mr. Lorimer." The question in Indiana continues to be: "When will the authorities move under the charges made by Mr. Kern against Mr. Shively?" Is it not a fine commentary on a political and social state that permits an accuser to evade his solemn duty; that permits the officers of the law to ignore bribery charges publicly made against legislators and the beneficiary of an alleged crooked caucus, and which allows odium, disgrace and dishonor to attach to a commonwealth month after month?

The Washington newspaper gets at the nub of the situation when it says: "The brewery interests, which Mr. Kern has charged with improperly influencing the senatorial election against him, are still in politics, and still on the side of the Democracy. This year Mr. Kern is the Democratic candidate for senator by indorsement of the state convention, but could not possibly win should the brewery interests, for any cause, cut him. What would be their probable action toward his candidacy should he connect them with the members of the legislature who, he has declared, sold out in his race against Mr. Shively?" The answer is easy. The brewers would knife Mr. Kern, as they did in 1909, only more so. It appears that whether or not there was purchase of votes in the caucus which betrayed Kern a year ago, there has been a shrewd and deliberate trade for Kern's silence this year.

PLAN TO MOVE ON RICHMOND

District Congressional Convention Will be Held There on Wednesday, May 25.

FIVE CANDIDATES IN FIELD

General Opinion That Lon Mull Will Have Solid Delegation From Rush and Shelby.

The sixth district democratic congressional convention, which will be held in this city, Wednesday, May 25, promises to be the warmest held by the party in this state, says the Richmond Item. There are five candidates in the field, and each one of them claims a strong following. Preliminary arrangements for the affair were made last evening at a meeting of the Jefferson club. Next Wednesday night the club will hold another meeting and at that time a reception committee will be appointed and final arrangements made.

It is probable that the convention will be held in the Pythian temple, but in the event this hall is found to be too small, the convention will be held at the coliseum.

Democratic hosts from over the district will begin to roll into this city the day before the convention and a very large crowd is expected. The Westcott hotel will be headquarters for nearly all of the candidates.

It is thought that the Rev. T. H. Kuhn of Richmond, Lon Mull of Mailla and Mayor Finley Gray of Connersville have the best show of landing the nomination, each of them having a strong and enthusiastic following, but supporters of Walter Chambers, editor of the New Castle Democrat and Attorney Fetterman of Franklin county, say their candidates are very much in the race and are not to be counted out until the last minute.

Lon Mull will come to Richmond with the Rush and Shelby delegations solidly behind him. Local democrats say that Rev. Kuhn will on the first ballot make a showing that will startle all of his opponents. They claim that he will have the solid Wayne county delegates, the largest in the district; that he will control the majority of the delegates from Union and Hancock counties and that he will have a scattering of votes among the other delegations.

Whether Mayor Gray will get the solid support of Union county is a question. Other candidates claim they control various Henry delegates. Mayor Gray of Connersville is one of the shrewdest democratic politicians in the district and a very popular man. Fayette county will support him solidly and he entertains hopes of gaining many recruits from lukewarm henchmen of opposing candidates.

Fetterman of Franklin is of the opinion that his home county is for him first, last and all the time, but his opinion is not shared by other candidates, notably Kuhn and Gray. There are one hundred and thirty-one delegates to the convention, making sixty-six votes necessary for a choice.

If your Stomach, Heart, or Kidney are weak, try at least, a few doses only of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. In five or ten days only, the result will surprise you. A few cents will cover the cost. And here is why help comes so quickly. Dr. Shoop doesn't drug the Stomach, nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to the weak and failing nerves. Each organ has its own controlling nerves. When these nerves fail, the depending organs must of necessity falter. This plain, yet vital truth, clearly tells why Dr. Shoop's Restorative is so universally successful. Its success is leading druggists everywhere to give it universal preference. A test will surely tell. Sold by F. E. Wolcott.

History will ever repeat itself. To illustrate: There was some hard kicking when the Rush county court house was built, but after the splendid edifice was completed, the hardest kickers were the loudest in its praise and admiration. We prophesy that the same thing will happen when the two stretches of road through the city have been improved under the three-mile law.

Up in Huntington county they are so proud of their Salamonie Avenue road that they have contracted with a Chicago moving picture concern to make a film of the entire stretch from the city to a little beyond the river bridge, in order to advertise this fine road to the world.

The comet is now an imposing object in the early morning heavens, and if you have not already set your alarm clock for 2:30 a. m. and proceeded to the front porch in your bare feet and pajamas, you have really missed some of the joys of living. However, after May 20th, it will appear in the evening sky in far greater splendor than it has yet attained, and the time will then be more convenient for seeing it.

On the night of May 18 it will pass between the sun and the earth, and its tail, owing to the repulsive force exerted by that luminary, will, if it is long enough, bathe this planet with its effulgence.

The more timorous and superstitious among us have displayed no little uneasiness as to the fate which may be in store for us upon that day. Whether we shall be quietly put to sleep by the noxious cometary vapors, never to wake up again, or go deliriously shouting and singing to our death, drunk with cyanogen gas, does not seem to have been determined.

On May 2, however, the planet Venus, which in some respects is a good deal like our earth, was whisked through the tail of the comet, just as we shall be. From last reports, Venus was still there, although what the fate of her inhabitants, if she has any, might have been, we are left in doubt.

There would seem to be no reason for apprehension, however, in the forthcoming experience. The earth's atmospheric cushion, even were the comet's tail a thousand times denser than it really is, would probably preserve us. But there is further cause for reassurance in the fact that the tail, according to astronomers, is merely a beam of condensed sunlight that for a few hours will be focused on the earth.

CENSUS FIGURES ARE KEPT SECRET

No Advance Information is Given Out by Enumerators Who Are Bound to Secrecy.

WORK IS PRACTICALLY DONE

Rushville Census Takers Have Covered City and Those Over County Are Nearly Finished.

The work of taking the United States census, so far as Rushville is concerned, is practically completed but there is no possibility of obtaining information as to what the statistics gathered by the Rush county enumerators show. The population may be larger and it may have decreased as compared with the census taken ten years ago, but before it is known positively it will be necessary to wait for the government to make the official announcement.

The principal reason for the secrecy maintained by the census employees is the fact that none of them desire to take any chances on paying a fine of $2,000 or going to the penitentiary for five years, as that is what might happen to them if they divulge the much desired information.

When they received the appointment enumerators were required to take oath not to reveal the information obtained. Violation of this oath is regarded as perjury and the penalty for perjury was set out at length in the instructions received before the work of counting noses actually began.

The only information concerning the population will come from Washington, the census bureau alone being permitted to give it out. As soon as each enumerator finishes up his work the sheets are sent to Supervisor Tieman at Connersville and from there forwarded to him to Washington.

They will be entertained here as guests of the three banks and Trust company. The program will be in charge of Cashier Ralph Payne of Rushville, and Cashier Harris of Rising Sun.

Everyone is Preparing to Squint at Comet May 18

A Plunge Into the Tail of the "Fiery Stranger" Will be Taken on That Day, but the Next Evening Will Offer the Big Celestial Show

In common with their fellow creatures all over the world, the people of Rushville are looking forward—all of them with interest, some of them with anxiety—to Wednesday of next week. It is down in everybody's book that that is to be "the day of the comet."

On that day Halley's comet will transit the sun, i. e., pass between the earth and the great luminary of day. Unfortunately for the people on this part of the globe, the performance will take place after sundown, consequently will not be visible to us. It is believed, however, that the tail of the comet will be on exhibition in our very midst that night. Just what sort of a spectacle, if any, will result from our immersion in the caudal appendage of the vagrant from interstellar space, no one undertakes to say certainly. It may be that there will be nothing out of the ordinary in the appearance of the night sky, but most of us will be sufficiently interested to stay up and spend a few hours in the open to see whether or not there will be.

It has been promised by the specialists on comets, that folk in this locality shall have their best view of Halley's hairy whizzer on the evening of May 19. It is said the comet will be seen in the western sky just after sunset that evening and that it will be an awe-inspiring spectacle.

Preparations to make observations on both Wednesday and Thursday evenings are being made by many Rushville people. For the reason that trees and buildings hide the horizon here in the city, many will go to the suburbs. Several, however, are planning to make their observations from the roofs of high buildings, which, of course, will be advantageous points of view. That a small party will do some "piking" from the court house tower is quite likely.

Whether or not Rushville people get to see the comet on the two evenings mentioned, and the attendant phenomena, if there are any, will depend on the weather. If the sky is clear, we will get to see the celestial show if one is put on. If the sky is overcast, there will, of course, be nothing doing.

Scientist Frederick Campbell of Brooklyn institute asserts that on the night of May 18th the entire globe on which we dwell is to be shot through the tail of Halley's comet with a speed 125 times that of a cannon ball. Does the earth then fly through space at such a rate as this? By no means; but, while the earth is rapidly approaching the comet, the comet is yet more rapidly approaching the earth, and the combined speed of the two is the same as if the comet stood still and the earth entered its tail at the rate of forty-three miles a second.

If we struck the solid nucleus of the comet, at the center of its foaming vapory head, such speed would surely be fatal to the comet, and doubtless would do great damage to the earth. But of this there is not the slightest danger, inasmuch as the paths of the two bodies do not run nearer than six million miles, and their positions are never such as to bring them nearer than twelve million miles—fifty times the distance of the moon. But with the tail we can and shall collide.

It is a very common error that a comet's tail follows its head, streaming behind it as does the smoke of a locomotive. It does this only in approaching the sun, but, in retiring from the sun the tail leads the way. The direction of the tail is always determined by an influence, supposed to be that of light, emanating from the sun, which drives it almost straight back from that body. The result, in the present instance, will be that the tail will come sweeping sideways, and we shall enter it and leave it on two opposite sides.

But in view of the extreme and almost infinite tenuity of a comet's tail we do not need to resort to arguments like these. Doubtless the minute elements of which it is composed are separated from each other as widely as are the considerable bodies known as the Leonid meteoroids, which we sometimes meet in a steady stream in the month of November, each one of whose many hundreds burns itself up in our atmosphere and yet leaves it not the less pure, fresh and life-giving. Nor is this all theory when we can point to two known instances of our globe passing through comets' tails, namely those of 1819 and 1861. The fact that, in both these cases, no one knew it was happening, proves that what was happening was not very serious.

What will happen then? If there be no danger to apprehend, is there anything of interest to anticipate? When we passed through the tail of the comet of 1861 men thought they noticed a strange radiance in the heavens which even the light of the rising sun did not wholly extinguish.

They did not know what it was, but regarded it worthy of the written record which they made of it. We may believe, therefore, that a faint phosphorescent glory will cover the heavens soon after we have entered the tail, say at about midnight, and that it will continue until dawn, and possibly even after the sun has risen. It is unfortunate that the moon does not set that night till 2:45 a. m., as its radiance will diminish, if not extinguish that of the comet's tail. But from 2 o'clock on to daybreak the scene ought to be one of beauty if not of splendor, bearing some analogy, no doubt, to that of the aurora borealis or northern lights.

So extraordinary are the events of this occasion, probably never to be repeated in a life time or much longer, that for all lovers of nature the usual sleep schedule ought now to be rigidly set aside. Early in the morning of the 17th, not later than daybreak, one ought to be looking low in the east to see the huge comet ascending the sky in advance of the sun. Early in the morning of the 18th he should look yonder again to see the comet's tail stretching up from the east, while its head lingers below the horizon, as if waiting for the sun. At 8 o'clock, central time, on the evening of May 18 he should reflect that the comet's head is now transiting the sun's face, and that, if he were a little farther west, he might see a remarkable sight in that one phenomenon.

Late in the evening of the 18th, and on until daylight, he should be watching for the comet's tail in the sky and try to realize how he and all mankind are now buried hundreds of thousands of miles deep therein. Soon after sunset, in the early evening of the 19th, he should look low in the west for the comet's tail streaking eastward; and early in the evening of the 20th he should look again and see the comet at its very best. Surely it is a cause for devout thankfulness to have been spared to witness this marvelous display of divine power and glory.

AMUSEMENTS

The management of the Palace offers a good program tonight in the Biograph film, "Love Among the Roses." The story of the reproduction is more along mythical lines than those of everyday life. The picture is one continuous scene of bowers and beautiful roses. In the kingdom of the Never-Never land, the great lord meets the great lady and they are wedded. They live a life of indolence and know nothing of love. Later other influences enter their lives and bring about a sudden realization of the power of love. The interesting situations following the entrance of new characters make up the strength of the story. Miss Iva Brown will sing a new song.

The Star Grand offers two pictures tonight. The first one is entitled "The Rival Miners" or "A Just Chastisement." The blasting operations introduced are alone of great interest while the story moves rapidly through many scenes in mountainous country, to a strong finale. The second picture is a tropical, entitled, "Volcanic Eruptions of Mt. Aetna." This film offers a wonderful series of the late disturbances which have excited the world. The eruption began March 23. The picture will arouse the keenest interest, showing as they do the devastation caused by the eruption of this great volcano. The series includes pictures showing the people fleeing from the lava, the eruptive crater taken from very close to the seething pillars of ashes and flame, lava flowing in great streams even an entire day after leaving the crater, showers of ashes, clouds of smoke and convulsions of the hills. This will probably be the only opportunity the present generation will have to observe the dangerous burning hill in full action. Earl Robertson will sing the illustrated song.

The manager of the Vaudet theater requests that you go with the crowd tonight to the Vaudet and see the great Bison film, "Justice by His Own Hand." It is said to be a picture of much merit, reproducing a strong and powerful story. Mr. Jones will sing a new illustrated song.

Mrs. James Hogsett and child came from New Castle yesterday to spend the remainder of the week here as the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Norris, and family in North Main street.

Greensburg Democrat: Vallie Hileman and brother, Elmer, of near Rushville came down to Greensburg, Wednesday morning and were met by their aunt, Mrs. Josephine Hull of Lock Springs, whom they will visit for several days.

There will be a called meeting of Phoenix Lodge No. 62 F. & A. M. Thursday evening to make arrangements to attend the funeral of brother Sanford M. Poston.

A NARRATIVE OF
METROPOLITAN LIFE

CHAPTER III.

The handsome townhouse of Howard Jeffries, the well-known banker, on Riverside drive, was one of the most striking among the many imposing millionaire homes that line the city's splendid water front. Houses there were in the immediate proximity which were more showy and had cost more money, but none as completely satisfying from the art lover's standpoint. It was the home of a man who studied and loved the beautiful for its own sake and not because he wanted to astonish people with what miracles his money could work. Occupying a large plot on slightly elevated ground, the house commanded a fine view of the broad Hudson. Directly opposite, across the river, busy with steam and sailing craft, smiled the green slopes of New Jersey; in the purplish north frowned the jagged cliffs of the precipitous Palisades.

The elder Jeffries, aristocratic descendant of an old Knickerbocker family, was proud of his home and had spent large sums of money in beautifying it. Built in colonial style of pure white marble with long French windows and lofty columns supporting a flat, rounded roof, surrounded by broad lawns, wide-spreading shade trees and splashing fountains, it was a conspicuous landmark for miles. The interior was full of architectural beauty. The stately entrance hall, hung with ancestral portraits, was of noble proportions, and a superb staircase, decorated with statuary, led off to tastefully decorated reception rooms above. To-night the house was brilliantly illuminated and there was considerable activity at the front entrance, where a footman in smart livery stood opening the doors of the carriages as they drove up in

Like Finding Money.

Hargrove & Mullin, the popular druggist are making an offer that is just like finding money for they are selling a regular 50 cent bottle of Dr. Howard's celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia at half price. In addition to this large discount they agree to return the money to any purchaser whom the specific does not cure. Only recently through the solicitation of Druggists Hargrove & Mullin that this medicine should be bought for less than fifty cents, they urged the proprietors to allow them to sell it at this reduced price for a little while, agreeing to sell a certain amount. The result has justified their good judgment for the sale has been something remarkable.

Anyone who suffers with headache, dyspepsia, dizziness, sour stomach, specks before their eyes, or any liver trouble, should take advantage of this opportunity, for Dr. Howard's specific will cure all these troubles. But if by chance it should not, Hargrove & Mullin will return your money.

Get Well First

Don't risk even a penny—until health first returns.

And I mean just exactly that. I am the one physician who says to the sick "I will, out of my own pocket, pay for your medicine if it fails to bring you help!" And for 20 years Dr. Shoop's medicines have been used and recommended in every city and hamlet in America. They are positively standard in every community—and everywhere. Then why pay the cash, and at your risk, for other unwaranted and uncertain medicines? Thousands upon thousands have in the past successfully used Dr. Shoop's Restorative. When the Stomach nerves, or the Heart or Kidney nerves fail, these sick ones know how quickly Dr. Shoop's Restorative will bring them back to health again. But best of all, they positively take no money risk whatever. They know that when health fails to return, Dr. Shoop will gladly pay the drug-gist for that test. And for that test a full 30 day treatment is freely granted. But write me first for an order.

This will save delay and disappointment. All druggists sell Dr. Shoop's Restorative and Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy, but all are not authorized to give the 30 day test. So drop me a line please—for I have appointed an honest and responsible druggist in almost every community, to issue my no money risk medicines to the sick. Tell me his name, and the book below will surely open up new and helpful ideas to those who are not well. Besides you are perfectly free to consult me just as you would your home physician. My advice and the book below are yours—and without cost.

Perhaps a word or two from me will clear up some serious ailment. I have helped thousands upon thousands by my private personal advice plan. My best effort is surely worth your simple request. So write now, while you have it fresh in mind, for tomorrow never comes. Dr. Shoop, Box 12, Racine, Wis.

Eczema—A Germ Disease Can Now be Cured.

The Medical profession is all agreed that ECZEMA is a germ disease, but the thing that has baffled them is to find some remedy that will get to the ground and destroy them.

Zemo, the clean, external treatment has solved this difficulty by drawing the germs to the surface of the skin and destroying the germ life that causes the disease. The whole method of treatment and cure by ZEMO is explained in an interesting book on the subject issued by the makers of ZEMO. It tells how to cure yourself at home of Eczema, Blackheads, Pimples, Dandruff, and all diseases of the skin and scalp. Call at F. E. Wolcott's Drug Store for Booklet and learn more about this clean, simple remedy that is now recognized the standard treatment for all diseases of the skin and scalp.

all, but no one dared expose him for fear of offending the influential Mrs. Jeffries. Realizing this, Underwood continued his depredations until he became a sort of social highwayman. He had no legitimate source of income, but he took a suite of apartments at the expensive Astruria and on credit furnished them so gorgeously that they became the talk of the town. The magazines and newspapers devoted columns to the magnificence of their furnishings and the art treasures they contained. Art dealers all over the country offered him liberal commissions if he would dispose of expensive objects d'art to his friends. He entered in business relation with several firms and soon his rooms became a veritable bazaar for art curios of all kinds. Mrs. Jeffries' friends paid exorbitant prices for some of the stuff and Underwood pocketed the money, forgetting to account to the owners for the sums they brought. The dealers demanded restitution or a settlement and Underwood, dreading exposure, had to hustle around to raise enough money to make up the deficiency in order to avoid prosecution. In this way he lived from day to day borrowing from Peter to settle with Paul, and on one or two occasions he had not been ashamed to borrow from Mrs. Jeffries herself.

Alicia lent the money more because she feared ridicule than from any real desire to oblige Underwood. She had long since become disgusted with him. The man's real character was now plainly revealed to her. He was an adventurer, little better than a common crook. She congratulated herself on her narrow escape. Suppose she had married him—the horror of it! Yet the next instant she was filled with consternation. She had allowed him to become so intimate that it was difficult to break off with him all at once. She realized that with a man of that character the in-

Men and women, be sensible, what's the use of wasting time and money trying to drive dandruff and dandruff germs from your scalp when F. B. Johnson & Co. guarantees Parisian Sage to completely rid your scalp or dandruff in two weeks or money back.

In over a thousand towns in America news of the marvelous cures of Parisian Sage are spreading. It is undoubtedly the greatest hair grower in the world.

would be opened to her folly, it might ruin her entire life. She must end it now—once for all. She had already given him to understand that their intimacy must cease. Now he must stop his visits to her house and desist from trapping her friends into his many schemes. She had written him that morning forbidding him to come to the house this evening. She was done with him forever.

These thoughts were responsible for the frown on the beautiful Mrs. Jeffries' bejeweled brow that particular Saturday evening. Alicia gave a sigh and was drawing on her long kid gloves before the glass, when suddenly a maid entered and tendered her mistress a note. Alicia knew the handwriting only too well. She tore the letter open and read:

Dear Mrs. Jeffries: I received your letter telling me that my presence at your house to-night would be distasteful to you. As you can imagine, it was a great shock. Don't you understand the harm this will do me? Everybody will notice my absence. They will jump to the conclusion that there has been a rupture, and my credit will suffer immediately with your friends. I cannot afford to let this happen now. My affairs are in such condition that it will be fatal to me. I need your support and friendship more than ever. I have noticed for some time that your manner to me has changed. Perhaps you have believed some of the stories my enemies have circulated about me. For the sake of our old friendship, Alicia, don't desert me now. Remember what I once was to you and let me come to your reception to-night. There's a reason why I must be seen in your house. Yours devotedly, ROBERT UNDERWOOD. To be Continued.

Interesting Reading for Tubercular Invalids

Eckman Mfg. Co.'s Booklet of Cured Cases Part of the Anti-Tuberculosis Crusade.

The makers of Eckman's Alternative—the medicine that is curing tuberculosis all over the country—have distributed with the booklet a free and direct method of getting that every consumptive should read. It tells in their own language the true story of those whom Eckman's Alternative has cured.

Many medical booklets sign their testimonials with initials, or give the city or State, and not the street address. The Booklet of Cured Cases is honest and sincere. It gives the full name, address (street, city and State), also the date. We urge you to write or call on these people and hear their story direct.

Such straight-from-the-heart evidence as this booklet holds is convincing, indeed. We offer proofs—we do not want you to buy the medicine until you have secured the booklet—it's free—all communicated with those whose gratuitous letters alone have made possible the publishing of this booklet.

No matter if you have unfortunately spent time and money experimenting with nearly every "cure" under the firmament—investigate Eckman's Alternative. If shown the heart-touching affidavit of a father whose only son was cured of tuberculosis by Eckman's Alternative after all hope had been abandoned, would it not carry some weight with you?

Eckman's Alternative is good for all Throat and Lung troubles, and is on sale in Rushville at Lytle's Drug Store and other Druggists. It can also be obtained at, or procured by, your local Druggists. Ask for Booklet of Cured Cases or write for Evidence to the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa.

The Important Problem

confronting anyone in need of a laxative is not a question of a single action only, but of permanently beneficial effects, which will follow proper efforts to live in a healthful way, with the assistance of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, whenever it is required, as it cleanses the system gently yet promptly, without irritation and will therefore always have the preference of all who wish the best of family laxatives.

The combination has the approval of physicians because it is known to be truly beneficial, and because it has given satisfaction to the millions of well-informed families who have used it for many years past.

To get its beneficial effects, always buy the genuine manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

Indianapolis, May 12.—In the hall of the house of representatives in the statehouse this afternoon an Indiana council to join in the national movement to promote uniform legislation by the states is being organized. The meeting, which is open to all persons interested, was called by John Hays Hammond, chairman of the committee on organization of the National Civic Federation. Ralph M. Easley, secretary of the National Civic Federation, is present and will speak, as will also John Mitchell of the trade agreement department of the federation.

Governor Marshall is presiding and other well known Indiana men are taking part. Addresses will be brief. Particular attention will be given the subjects "Compensation for Industrial Accidents" and "Insurance," though other topics will also be touched upon. Among Indiana men who will speak are Charles L. Jewett, Merrill Moores, Joshua Strange, James W. Noel, Addison C. Harris and Dr. H. E. Barnard.

GIRL MISSING

Wabash Concerned Over Strange Absence of Ruth Rhamey.

Wabash, Ind., May 12.—Miss Ruth Rhamey, aged sixteen, organist at the Second United Brethren church, has been mysteriously missing from her home in this city since last Sunday evening and police and relatives have not been able to find her. Miss Rhamey played the organ at a part of the services Sunday evening. After the opening songs had been sung she quietly left the organ loft and was seen to go out of the church. Since then her whereabouts has been unknown. The parents of the girl say they know of no motive to prompt her to leave home.

SURPRISED THEM

Neighbors Did Not Know This Old Miser Had Money.

Evansville, Ind., May 12.—Marshall McMurran, a miser, who was found in his cabin several miles below here, half frozen and nearly starved several months ago, with money in his clothes amounting to nearly $30,000, is dead at the Southern Indiana insane hospital, after a brief illness. He was nearly seventy years old, and it is estimated he left a fortune valued at $60,000. McMurran had lived in one hut for several years, and his neighbors never knew he had anything of value about his place. Where his money came from is not known.

Will Cut Out Fireworks.

Muncie, Ind., May 12.—Because two boys injured in Fourth of July celebrations in Muncie last year died of lockjaw afterward, the city authorities have decided that Muncie this year shall get in line with a number of other cities and have a "sane Fourth." An ordinance is now being drawn for presentation at the next regular meeting of the city council, prohibiting the sale of fireworks in Muncie.

Young Dentist Kills Himself.

New Albany, Ind., May 12.—Oscar Anglemann, aged twenty-one, son of County Commissioner Jefferson Engleman, committed suicide at his home in Georgetown, ten miles west of this city, by hanging. He had been ill for several days and had appeared despondent.

Two Boys and a Gun.

Logansport, Ind., May 12.—While Rex Cotner, aged eleven, and Leon Cotner, aged fifteen, brothers, were playing with a revolver the younger boy accidentally discharged the weapon and the bullet struck Leon in the chest. The boy's condition is critical.

Child Disfigured by Dog.

Muncie, Ind., May 12.—Edward, the four-year-old son of Charles Kirk, a merchant, was disfigured for life when the little boy was attacked by a vicious bulldog owned by J. Edgar Johnson. The animal's teeth lacerated the child's face, inflicting serious wounds.

Took Quarrel to Heart.

Terre Haute, Ind., May 12.—Mrs. Albert Carter, aged twenty-five, married a few months, took poison following a quarrel with her husband, and is dying at the hospital. She came from Mattoon, Ill.

The big stern wheel Mississippi river steamer City of Saltillo struck a rock and sank at Glenpark, Mo. It is believed several persons perished.

BOLD HOLD-UP ON THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC

Two Cowboys Subject Passengers to Search.

Phoenix, Ariz., May 12.—All passengers, to the number of seventeen, together with the conductor and brakeman on a Southern Pacific train which left Maricopa for the thirty-mile run to Phoenix, were held up last evening by two men who boarded the train with the passengers at Maricopa. They went first to the smoking car, where one robber stood in the door and covered the passengers while the other went through the car. A deputy sheriff from Globe conveying two prisoners to the penitentiary had his gun taken, and all the guns of the other passengers were taken. The robbers then went to the rear coach, containing mostly women, and took all their money. The robbers were young men, apparently cowboys, and did not molest the express car. The sheriff from Tucson was in Phoenix and he with the sheriff from Phoenix and a large posse with horses, left Phoenix an hour later on a special train for the scene of the robbery.

IN ONE WORD

The Colonel Accepted the President's Request to Be Funeral Ambassador.

Washington May 12.—Colonel Roosevelt will be special representative of the United States at the funeral of King Edward. Announcement to this effect has been made at the White House. President Taft cabled the colonel as follows: "I should be very glad if you would act as special ambassador to represent the United States at the funeral of King Edward VII. I am sure that the English people will be highly gratified at your presence in this capacity; and that our own people will strongly approve it. Have as yet received no official notice of the date of the funeral, but it is reported that it will take place on the 20th of this month. Please answer."

The colonel's answer was the one word: "Accept."

New York, May 12.—The fate of Fritz Augustus Heinze will be in the hands of the jury tonight.

don't you think that it is bad for the other people?

I would not have the ill will of these people for anything. There are a women in the family and such tongues as they have. I am sorry for this poor man for I have never known anyone to spit up as much as he does. But he does not care for other people. There would be no use in speaking to our Health Board (?) here for they would not pay any attention, they might if they lived close to this family. Are there not laws to compel persons to be more careful and not endanger the lives of other people.

I am afraid to sign my name, but I do hope you can do something in this case.

I would tell the Health Board here about it, but I don't suppose it would do any good and they might mention my name to the people, and if they get down on anyone they talk so much and make it very unpleasant for them. Of course there may not be any law to cover such cases, but if the family could be made to know it was dangerous for them too, they might be more careful. Now the fight is on in earnest, I should think people should be protected.

From one who is very much interested.

May 3, 1910.

Dr. J. G. Lewis, Rushville, Ind.,

Dear Doctor:—I send you a letter which tells its own story. I think you should find out this man who is infecting his yard and offending his neighbors and call upon him, poor consumptive that he is, and tell him the whole situation. He surely does not fully understand that he is imperiling the lives of his own family and the lives of others by his careless disposition of excretions. You are the very man to calmly and kindly teach him. Only as a last resort inform him that he is offending the law. You know the health law says that no "person, firm or corporation shall maintain any conditions which may generate, promote or transmit disease." This poor consumptive could be arrested, taken to the court, fined and even imprisoned for spitting around promiscuously. This should not be told him only at the very last.

Very truly yours,
J. N. HURTY, Secretary.

BALL ALIAS ANDY CARNegie ARRIVES

Whistling Book Agent Comes to Rushville With His Irresistible Laugh and Jovial Manners

FATAL TO SHELBYVILLE GIRL

Ball, the whistling, laughing, genial, white-haired and white-whiskered book agent, arrived in this city today after being away for a year. He will be remembered by many local people for his jovial manner and proclivities for telling amusing stories. He resembles Andrew Carnegie so much that he could easily pass as the steel magnate and, in fact, has threatened to do so several times. His hobby, next after selling books, is whistling, and he generally attracts attention on the street by that habit. It will be remembered that this one trait caused a young stenographer at Shelbyville to laugh so heartily one day recently that she fractured one of her ribs.
